The Quattro Firm Believes in Female Empowerment: Interview with Laura Morse of Monkey Morse Creations

By Nicole McNamara Quattrocchi

This month, I had the opportunity to interview Laura Morse about her custom clothing company, Monkey Morse Creations. Laura began her business for simple personal use. She enjoyed custom shirts for her son and felt that she was spending a fortune on such creations. Ever the creative girl, Laura looked in to vinyl cutting software and machines. After receiving the same as a Christmas gift, she began making creations for her son and her family.

Her creations were so creative and cute that friends began requesting to order items as well. Laura has been shocked by her “demand,” but appreciative of her thriving business.

Speaking of her success, Laura thinks the key to her success as a woman in business is her hard-working ethics. She describes herself as eager and diligent. Laura credits her parents for her work ethic and says she was always taught to work hard and strive for her goals.

Laura thinks that her business is different from competitors in that she approaches each customer with a great deal of patience. She’s also very easy to reach. She can be reached through her Facebook shop page and generally responds very quickly. Laura is easy to work with, even with regard to last minute items and changes. She uses only the highest quality vinyl and apparel.

" Women have to harness their power- it's absolutely true. It's just learning not to take the first no. And if you can't go straight ahead, you go around the corner."

The Quattro Firm Believes in Female Empowerment: Interview with Laura Morse of Monkey Morse Creations

By Nicole McNamara Quattrocchi

As far as being a woman in her field, Laura did not hesitate to state her favorite part: the ability to be creative. She loves the options and different possibilities for her business. Laura uses herself as advertising by wearing her own custom creations. She also loves her opportunity to network with other mothers.

Laura thinks that there are definite advantages to being a woman in her field. Laura describes her mindset as mommy first, woman second. She loves the idea of coming up with fun, creative and silly quotes that only fellow mothers or women would fully find such things humorous. It's the play on words that Laura loves most, especially with regard to motherhood and its many challenges. The majority of Laura's personal creations are about babies and other mommy challenges.

Laura loves a challenge. Her favorite projects are those that you can't find elsewhere on Etsy or Pinterest. She loves hearing ideas that customers have and bringing those ideas to life.

We asked Laura about what she enjoys most about creating custom clothing. She happily responded that her favorite thing is people's reactions. Laura loves to see her creations on people and she loves getting calls, texts or emails from her happy customers. In terms of her most favorite reaction, Laura told us the story of making a custom gift for a child battling ovarian Cancer. Laura had the pleasure of creating special shirts for her first Disney trip for the whole family. The Make-a-Wish Foundation sponsored the child's trip. Laura was sent pictures of the child in her custom Disney shirt visiting with all of her Disney favorites. The characters were all pointing to her shirt with thumbs up. Laura describes the experience as truly touching.

Laura advises other entrepreneurial women to just go for it. She thinks that if you have a desire, just try it. She believes that you will never know what you can achieve if you don't jump in whole-heartedly. To Laura, anything is attainable as long as you put your mind to it.
